DAY 4 | 05 May, 2026

Paris - Sightseeing tour of African American History [B/L/-]

Morning enjoy your breakfast. After your hotel pick up around 9:30 Am you will immerse into Paris' Black history Meet your tour for their Black Paris Orientation! We will board our vehicle and proceed to Arc de Triomphe. We will start with stroll to the Arc de Triomphe for their Black Paris Orientation! We then stroll over to the Arc de Triomphe, where your guide tells of the first great wave of African Americans coming to Paris in the 1800s. We describe the exploits of Black soldiers who distinguished themselves on French battle fields during World Wars I and II and the Champs Elysees Mansion where Thomas Jefferson and Sally Hemings came together in 1787, the beginning of a 38-year relationship. A short ride takes us to beautiful Parc Monceau to follow in the footsteps of Frederick Douglass, Dr. W.E.B. Dubois, Henry O. Tanner, Mary Church Terrell, Ida B. Wells, Carter G. Woodson, Countee Cullen, Bessie Coleman, Langston Hughes, and Mary McCloud Bethune. We stroll two blocks to stand before the monument recognizing France's abolition of the African slave trade in the West Indies and recalling the exploits of Napoleon's most famous Black general. Steps away, another statue is dedicated to the General's son, Alexandre Dumas... the most famous French writer in history. A third statue recalls the literary achievements of his son, the dramatist, Alexandre Dumas. With the Haitian Consulate overlooking this square, you'll hear the story of Toussaint L'Ouverture, who led the successful 1791 revolt ... making Haiti the first free Black Republic in the new world. Another bus ride takes us past the building where author Dumas lived, then past the church dedicated to the African Saint Augustine -- a founder of the Catholic Church! Next, we'll see the Place de la Madeleine, the church where Josephine Baker's was given a state funeral April 15th, 1975. We'll pause at Place Concorde where the guillotine took the heads of thousands during the French Revolution, and where the US Embassy is headquartered. Place Concorde is home to the oldest monument in Paris today, the African Obelisk ... an astronomical device used to chart the sun and the stars at the Temple of Thebes in Luxor, it was brought to Paris in 1831. We will then head to Olympia Concert Hall. This hall has played host to an amazing line up of legendary African American musical greats -- Louis Armstrong, Sidney Bechet, Josephine Baker, the Nicholas Brothers, Hazel Scott, Lionel Hampton, Clara Ward, Nat King Cole, Mahalia Jackson, Nina Simone, Miriam Makeba, Hugh Masakela, Quincy Jones, Cab Calloway, Ray Charles, Chuck Berry, Little Richard, Ike and Tina Turner, the Jackson Five, the Supremes, Jackie Wilson, Jimmy Hendrix, James Brown, Dee Bridgewater, Nathalie Cole, Al Jareaux, Brian McKnight -- just to name a few!

We will continue to Opera Garnier - America's greatest Black operatic talents have graced this stage including Ira Aldridge, Blind Tom, Sissie Retta Jones, Lillian Evanti, Paul Robeson, Grace Bumbry, Gloria Davis, William Warfield, Leontyne Price, Shirley Verrett, Marian Anderson, Mahalia Jackson, Jessye Norman, Janet Baker, Barbara Hendricks. Head to "Little Africa" to see the colorful outdoor market at Chateau Rouge. You'll feel as if you've been transported to a market in some of the biggest cities of West Africa. Next drive through historic Montmartre called "The Harlem of Paris" between WWI and WWII. Tour the lesser-known corners in the Latin Quarter, Montparnasse, Lower Montmartre, and the Champs Elysées area, writers James Baldwin, Richard Wright and Diaspora intellectuals in the Latin Quarter. Featured are several Josephine Baker sites, Jazz in 1920s Lower Montmartre around the Moulin Rouge, Sally Hemings, Harlem Hell fighters and sites of artists' exhibitions near the Champs-Elysees, plus the Alexandre Dumas family statues. We will stop at a local restaurant La Creole for Lunch (own expense) Post Lunch, we will visit the Church of the Black Madonna. The church notably contained a Black Madonna, the Notre Dame de Bonne Délivrance (Our Lady of Good Deliverance), also known as the "Black Madonna of Paris". The statue dates from the 14th century, replacing an 11th-century version. It is 150 centimeters (59 in) tall, and made from painted limestone. The Virgin wears a white veil and dark blue mantle ornamented with fleur-de-lis over a red robe. We stop at Place Josephine Baker in the 14th Arrt (Metro: Edgar Quinet) for group photo. Rue Gaitie is where Mme Baker last performed April 10, 1975 at Bobino Cabaret in a show titled "Josephine". Her body laid in state at Bobino before her funeral cortege made its way to Church of the Madeleine the day of her funeral. April 15, 1975. You will be dropped -off at the hotel in the evening.

Paris - Visit Le Vesinet [B/-/-]

This day will be dedicated" to the "Bronze Venus," "Jazz Cleopatra": all nicknames given to the fabulous Josephine Baker throughout her life. Meet your guide around 10:00 Am and proceed to Paris suburb of Le Vésinet where, Josephine Baker lived during the height of her long and illustrious career. With a population of 17,000, Le Vesinet is a charming, quiet, and dotted with lakes and parks, the architecture of this town's private home is remarkable. One of it's prizes is Le Beau Chene, the mansion that Josephine Baker owned and called home for eighteen years. Paris was an incredibly special place to the American-born singer — it was here that her explosive career first started. She famously said: "I don't want to live without Paris... It's my country. I want to be worthy of Paris." In a time when the States were not ready to accept performances like hers, Paris welcomed her with open arms. Enjoy your lunch at Au Bistrot de la Montagne, armed with a fine 13th Century splendor, the charming bistro offers a variety of traditional French dishes.

After your lunch (own expense) at Le Vesinet, you will visit the Théâtre des Champs-Élysées. It was here, in October 1925, that Joséphine Baker performed in La Revue Nègre, her first performance in Paris. This is where it really all began. It was in this theatre that she first took to the stages of the French capital, which kickstarted her career.

Your coach will drop you off in the artsy St. Germain-des-Prés district for a 45 minute in the Arts District. In these narrow streets you will see the former home of painter Henry O. Tanner, browse the windows of the street lined with art galleries and discuss the exhibition of African American and African art, plus learn how art and BeBop musicians also thrived in this area.
